Complementing the residence are a carport, workshed and a spacious art studio with an outdoor kitchen servicing a camp area, complete with composting toilet and shower – a hub for nature enthusiasts to enjoy activities such as bird watching, hiking, meditation, and workshops.

The historic Nightcap trail between the two National Parks runs along the top of the property, which is situated midway along the new 3-day hinterland walking track from Main Arm to Minyon Falls.

This natural oasis features diverse orchards with approximately 100 fruit trees, including Jaboticaba, Pecans, Macadamia, Citrus, Avocado, and Mango and an incredible 80,000 native trees planted over four decades, spanning old-growth forest, dry sclerophyll, wet sclerophyll, and lush rainforest ecosystems.

Wompoo Valley is also a sanctuary for endangered and vulnerable flora and fauna, with species including Alberts Lyre Bird, Marbled Frogmouth, Spotted Owl, koalas and various frog species.
